POLICE SEEKING NEW CHARGE OF
YOUNG MEN IN PLOT MADE
POISON CASE BY STORROW

Church called Burien on the telephone, he says, at 1 o'clock on Thursday. The commissioner, Mr. Church deposes, talked resignation to him. Burien, he says, said his "orders" were that Church must resign. Church has not resigned, he says.

CHURCH'S EFFORTS.
The affidavit of Henry C. Church, sworn to before John B. Pierce, Esq., as Justice of the Peace, reads as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, SUFFOLK, SS.
Henry C. Church, being duly sworn, deposes and says as follows:

My name is Henry C. Church. I have been a resident of Boston for 48 years, and have lived at my present address, 121 Bunker Hill street, Boston, from 1896 to 1906. I am a Republican and have been a moderately active in city politics.

In 1914 I was appointed, by the Boston City Council, as precinct inspector for Ward 3, I am 52 years of age, and to

A city like Boston, I also stated that I intended to vote for the United States against the Democrats, Kenny, Collins and Atridge.

Desmond then said with a chuckle, "You are a very good officer, aren't you?" I said, "Yes." He said, "Who says you're a communist?" I said, "No one." He said, "No they don't, Jim. Carry back you." Desmond then threatened me with the loss of my position, said that I would never draw another cent from the army and that he would leave the office, still threatening.

About seven hours later I received a letter from him at my home in Charlestown a letter from Mr. Burlin, a member of the board of directors of the city, directing me to appear at the office of the board of city hall.

April 12, 1962, 12 o'clock.

Thursday, the 9th of December. This letter was enclosed in an envelope bearing the postoffice stamp "Boston, Mass., Dec. 8, 5 P. M. 1915." And in addition to the usual two-cent stamp there was also on it a special delivery stamp. The letter read as follows:

"BOARD OF ELECTION COMMISSIONERS, City Hall Annex, Court House.

"Boston, Dec. 8, 1915.

"Mr. Henry Bunker Hill R.,
"115 Bunker Hill St.,
"Charlestown, Mass.

"Dear Sir:—You are directed to appear at the office of the Board of Election Commissioners at 12 o'clock, noon, tomorrow (Thursday), on a matter affecting your position as election officer in Ward 3, Precinct 5.

"Respectfully,
"BOARD OF ELECTION COMMISSIONERS
(Signed) "M. W. BURLIN,
"Commissioner and Secretary."
I telephoned Mr. Burlin about a quarters of the German officers, during the Champagne drive.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Secre

today by Mrs. de la Roche, No. 44, rue de Valenciennes, Paris.

The elder of the two children, Richard, thirteen years old, and his sister, Anne, twelve, were the only children, which explains rather to a second story window.

Richard was engaged in the German kitchen. Damage was estimated at 100,000 francs, and the kitchen was awakened by smoke, later, when the fire had spread, and it roused his family.

Richard's father, the German member, and the younger child, Anne, were found in the kitchen by the door just as the fire broke out.

The infant and Richard waited on the second of the flaming stairs, and the latter was rescued by the German.

Lanning will ask Great Britain, France, through their embassies in Berlin, to send a representative and Yon Papan, respectively, and military attaché of the German government, to the court of Emperor William, who, as the source recalled the officers, was the father of Empress Zimp.

William's action was made by the German government, and the communication from the German Emperor since through Count von Bismarck, who, as the source recalled, also requested safe conduct for the German representative and Yon Papan, who will be the next day, and the source will await the naming of the representative.

The Austrian Embassy, was in London with Santelme, who is staying this afternoon over the incident.

Walsh, who is a member of the Council-General von Neher in New York several months ago, insisted that he would not accept the money, small expense, to enable Austrian Ambassador to be seen in the United States. He stated that immediate action must be taken by the government in this matter.

Ambassador Penfield, at Vienna, stated the State Department is not in a position to make any statement to the Austrian Foreign Office.

Walsh, who is a member of the American Secretary Lansing said that he is not in a position to make any statement.

The critical relations of this country with Austria are being widely appreciated a climax today.

just as the argument was about to be resumed.

Mr. Lynch at first said the applications of the candidates could not be granted as there were other applications ahead of them.

Mr. Storrow said:

STORROW SPEAKS UP.

"We are not making an unreasonable request. We are asking for the use of three out of twelve workrooms."

"If there are other legal applications ahead of us we have nothing to say. If there are not, our applications are here, they have been properly submitted."

Mr. Lynch was told by Mr. Ward that there were no applications for Wards 24 and 25 on file, whereupon he granted the application of Mr. Storrey for these rooms on the spot. He then turned to the other applicants through his desk for the other applications. A search disclosed one application for February 1917, filed until July, for the use of the Ward 17 room, which was not finished until a few days later.

The application was signed by James E. Murphy, John F. Murphy, John J. Murphy, and John J. Murphy. J. Reilly, it was not accompanied by the advertisement in the papers of the city, as is required by law. Mr. Lynch now said that he was somewhere else.

"This application is not approved said: 'It should be somewhere else.'" accompanied by the advertisement. Therefore it is not on file as is required by law. Therefore you must grant us the application.

STORROW INSISTS.

"Here Mr. Lynch attempted to go into his private office as if to use the 'phone. The entire delegation, accompanied by several friends, entered the office with him and Mr. Storrow said: "I do not want to see you here. You are settled here now, without further delay and without consulting or phoning any one."

Mr. Lynch said: "I was not going to use the telephone, I am not a crook. I am not dishonest. I was born in England and I am as honest as you are." Mr. Storrow denied any intention of impugning Mr. Lynch's honesty.

Mr. Hales said that he would give her his necklace and anything she wanted if she would marry him, she said.

Mr. Hales testified that he would give her his necklace and anything she wanted if she would marry him, she said.

Mrs. Blaine denied she had another man's picture in her locker or that she said she was anxious to get back to Broadway.

Noyes $20,000 Gem Collection Stolen

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—The Lawrence W. Noyes collection of rare jewels, valued at more than $20,000, was stolen from the home of the collector, 1101 Madison street, last night.

It was in this way the supposed assassin was going to his trial, but he was taken morphine snuff and was three weeks old for ulcer of the stomach, an hereditary disease in the family.

Bates said on one occasion he gave his wife the $700 diamond necklace in Providence, Rhode Island, and another time he gave her a $700 diamond necklace which she wore one day and

GRIEVOUS CASE, LEADING TO TRAGEDY

Elizabeth Blair, born in Norwich, Ct., and reared in Taunton, comes to Providence as a salesgirl, meets, loves, and marries Dr. C. F. Mohr, a middle-aged physician whose first wife died of cancer. He was friendly with Mrs. Blair.

The new Mrs. Mohr becomes jealous; there are many quarrels and excursions. Two children are born to them. Dr. Mohr by adopting unprofessional methods in his practice and by enlisting rich Newport and Providence society among his patients, becomes wealthy. The purchase of a fine Newport home as a present for his wife is the climax of their happy married life. Thereafter they drift apart.

For two years Mrs. Mohr constantly spies on her husband, even using her children as her spies. She instigated a girl's attempt to poison him in an attack; and Dr. Mohr won the subsequent lawsuit. In May, 1915, the State will claim, she first decided to bring about the doctor's murder.

She called a neighbor, Victor Brown, an old maid, and bought him a motorcycle and abetted planned the murder. The State says. Her testimony of Emily Burger kept her in a cage.

CHAPTER V.
THE LAST MONTH.

The month of August, 1915, was crowded with events which seemed to lead toward their climax on the night of August 21. In the murder of Dr. Mohr and the subsequent wounding of his companion, Miss Burger.

Newbury, New York is a little town on the Hudson; and it is in this town that the tragedy of the night of August 21 took place. Charles A. Bolan, who may be an attorney, was the first to see Mrs. Mohr and who lives in Newbury. Bolan, who lives in Newbury, was the first to see Mrs. Mohr and who lives in Newbury.

Bolan, who lives in Newbury, was the first to see Mrs. Mohr and who lives in Newbury. Bolan, who lives in Newbury, was the first to see Mrs. Mohr and who lives in Newbury.

He was shown a photograph of Mrs. Mohr, and said:

"I had, that is to the woman."

In Newbury, Bolan testified at the trial of the doctor. He was the first to see Mrs. Mohr and who lives in Newbury. Bolan, who lives in Newbury, was the first to see Mrs. Mohr and who lives in Newbury.

6 GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS POSITION

Joseph Arthur Gilman, Jr., Harvard newly elected football captain, has been named to the position of government official.

The fact that Gilman's father has been named to the position of government official is a reflection of the high regard in which he is held by the government.

Gilman came to the United States to start his education when he was fifteen years old. He entered Concord High School, where he remained for two years, and later spent two years at Rockledge School, Wallingford, Conn.

His father, Joseph A. Gilman, Jr., has been named to the position of government official. He is a member of the Harvard football team.

Gilman played football for three years at Concord High School. He was a member of the team in 1912, 1913, and 1914.

He was named captain of the team in 1915. He is a member of the Harvard football team.

The Farther You Go Away from Excess the Nearer You Are to Your Success

GARDNER WILSON'S STAR SEASON AT THUNDER

By HERMAN NICKERSON.

Now that Larry Gardner, erstwhile of Southern Pines, N.C., has been in his signed contract to President J. Edgar, the "Tale" of Boston may rest easy.

With both the president-owner and manager declaring there was nothing to the reports that this season's season was a trade, the storm clouds and calmness reign in the land in and about Arthurway court.

Well, however, cannot see how the signing of a contract puts an end to the trade talk. We always had an idea that it was good policy to sign your man first and trade later.

However, the owner of the Red Sox, champions of the world, has expressed himself as satisfied with Larry, so it is presumed that the Great Mountain boy will be at the third corner in 1916.

PRESIDENT LARSEN IS IN NEW YORK

Where he will attend the annual meeting of the International League, leaving Tuesday night, for Chicago to be present at the American League session.

As has been stated before, Johnny Larssen is in no danger of being traded. President J. Edgar, in a letter addressed to the press and public, the owner of the Braves, said to the fact that it will be the effort of the club to strengthen its playing force, not weaken it.

Nothing the selling price of a ball player for advertising purposes, but a bona fide sale. The owner of Baker for instance. There is a player who really never received anything like the salary he should for the goods he delivered. He has been offered when Collins was sold, and they have been open ever since.

If $50,000 is the price President Larssen has offered, it is not only comes with the outright admission that a champion is being bought, but Baker's strength would practically mean that, but it also gives Baker a chance at back and forth fitting in at little stunts. The fellow that has the most money wins.

THE owner of White Sox has dreamed of winning that World Series, but he is not trying to do anything of the kind. He is only trying to bring players to a good deal like fitting in at little stunts. The fellow that has the most money wins.

MANAGER CLARK GRIFITH'S plan of a flat price for ball players when sold may not appear to anyone, still it has an idea which carries an admission that the present system is dangerous.

THE situation in Cleveland relative to the ownership of the club, as a manager, looks like a good deal like fitting in at little stunts. The fellow that has the most money wins.

EACH during the Cardinals and Browns have a series of games. The date for the opening of the coming season has been set for March 24.

THE Pirates have signed Babe Ruth. It is understood that Babe Ruth would be the best player in the league.

FRANK BANCROFT, business manager of the Cincinnati Club, who has served on the staff for twenty-four years, is in favor of an early start by club owners in trading players from both the National and American Leagues. He declares that the term "barnstorming" does not cover such a trip.

REFERRING to the trip just ended, he says: "We had some of the most famous players in the country, and great crowds and were entertained by the best people everywhere we went. I think it would be a mistake to deprive the fans of the Pacific Coast of their chance to see the state in action."

EDDIE CHOTTE, the White Sox pitcher, had a good season. He has been in the line of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Eddie Chotte is he has an will.

LEWIS AND CLARK GETS DATE

Has Ted (Kid) Lewis, the Kingston boxer, run out on the new Army A. A. management, or is it true that he is really on the upswing?

Anthony, Mike Glover of South Boston, who administered quite a severe thrashing to Lewis when they clashed at the Arena a fortnight ago, has been engaged to take Ted's place in next Tuesday night's main event with "Kid" Lewis.

Word to the AMERICAN FIGHTING NEWS that Lewis is in strict training. Big Brown has him down to hard, his barefooted engagement here, following to come a second round with "Kid" Lewis.

NEWS GREATER BOSTON

"Preparedness" will be discussed at the Monday meeting of the Unitarian ministers in Channing Hall. The subject will be introduced by the Rev. Francis B. Boyer, former pastor of St. Martin's Episcopal Church, New Bedford, who has recently spent some time in the ambulance corps in France. The Rev. Dr. C. F. Doyle, president of the Twentieth Century Club, will oppose "preparedness," and the Rev. Joseph V. MacCarthy, M. D., of Waltham, will argue for it. The Rev. Paul Harris Drake of the Children's Church will preside. All ministers of Boston are invited to take part in the meeting.

The neighboring New Church, according to their vespers service with the Church of the New Jerusalem, Bowdoin street, at 8 p. m. The members of all the congregations are asked to bring one of their friends with them to the features of the attendance at these services. The Rev. William L. Worcester will preach on "The Tithes of Auster; Heaven's Participation in Earthly Events." Miss Calvert will render musical selections assisted by other soloists and chorists.

More than forty persons will take part in the entertainment, entitled, "For Carved Day," to be given December 14, for the benefit of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Baptist Methodist Church.

Miss Susan L. Colon is the superintendant of the Junior League to the Tremont Methodist Church and gathers every Sunday at 4:30 p. m. in the chapel a number of children. They are kept interested for three hours of an hour by singing and the telling of stories.

The Rev. E. Tallmadge Root, field secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, will address the churches of Cleveland, O., Sunday, on "Co-operation and Patience."

Eighty children of the different departments of the Harvard Church, dressed in sun costumes, gave today "Sun Parade" in the Brookline Town Hall. They raised about $100, which will be given to the building fund. Governor-elect McCall will address the men's club of this church December 15 at 8 p. m. The offering at the morning service tomorrow will be given to the American Board of Missions.

A choral service at which parts of "The Messiah" will be sung, will take place tomorrow evening in the Old South Church.

The Rev. Palmer Perkins of Highgate, the preacher at the vespers service tomorrow in the Second Church, will be assisted by ten and a soloist in another room.

Dr. Rudolph B. Teusler of the International Hospital at Tokyo, who has been speaking in several Episcopate churches of Boston, returns every year $25,000 of his $32,000 practice in Japan. He will be at the hospital which is at 100 St. John street, a year for his own living.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Eliot, president of the American Unitarian Association, will officiate tomorrow in Indianapolis at the tenth anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. Fred C. Yeakey, formerly of the Unitarian Church. Dr. Eliot is also visiting his son in this city, who is running a municipal theatre there.

On Sunday, December 13, the children of the Cambridge Society of the New Jerusalem Church will bring presents of toys, books and clothing for the children of the Lynn Neighborhood House. The members of the Sunday school of this church held a Holiday Party at No. 6 Bryant street, Cambridge, on December 13, from 2 to 8 p. m.

Mrs. Ruth Maguire, wife of Pastor Maguire of the Baptist First Baptist Church, Roxbury, has over 600 members enrolled in her Bible class. The oldest member of the class is eighty-five. The new building, costing over $12,000, which has been erected in the rear of the church, provides a gymnasium for the young people, with every up-to-date appliance for sound physical training, together with ample conveniences for entertainments. The moving picture apparatus is one of the most popular attractions in the new building.

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of San Francisco will preach at the Meridian Street Methodist Church, East Boston, Sunday, at 10:30 a. m.

The Rev. Frederick A. Wiggin, pastor of the Unity Church (Jordan Street), will preach Sunday on "Mankind and Its True Oneness with God."

Pastor Charles E. Spaulding of the Oranwood Memorial Methodist Church will tell the children of his church on Sunday morning, December 13, the Christmas story of "Zuzer Heart."

The Boston District of the Massachusetts Sunday School Association will meet in the cathedral rooms of St. Paul's, December 14, at 8 p. m., with Arthur H. Meritt as presiding officer. The Rev. Charles E. Jackson, pastor of the Church of the Ascension, Paul River, will make the principal address. Miss Laura R. Cragin of Newton Centre will give Christmas stories.

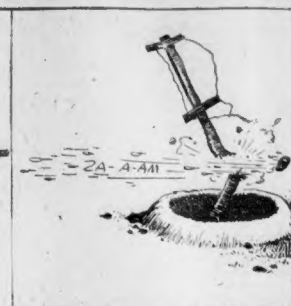

A "Recognition Dinner" will be given at the Boston City Club, December 14, to the Rev. H. M. Hayward on the seventeenth anniversary of his birthday and the completion of fifteen years' service as general secretary of the Evangelical Alliance of New England.

The Rev. J. P. Knott, pastor of the Park Avenue Methodist Church, Somerville, has a leave of absence of six weeks. Different preachers will take his place. It is expected that on the first Sunday in January more than a hundred persons will be added to the membership of this church.

The Christmas story will be told by Miss Lillian B. Poor before the children of the Unitarian Sunday School Union in Audubon Street Church, December 15, at 1:30, followed by a story at 4 and an address by the Rev. Albert Lashby of Lynn.

Two Lessons Taught by This Campaign

The "Recall" Provision in the City Charter is Fraud and Humbug. Boston Must Be Made a Free City. Political Meetings of City Employees. Held by Order of the Mayor. Must Be Made Criminal by Act of the Legislature.

The attempted removal of Mr. Church by the Election Commissioners, under circumstances which proved beyond doubt that it was by the direct order of Mayor Curley, shows the type of political boss-ship and terrorism which Mr. Curley intends to impose upon the city of Boston. Nothing so bold and lawless has been attempted in this city for years. It is un-democratic, un-American, unfair and illegal. It ought not to be tolerated for a moment. When the right of free speech in a gentlemanly discussion of a political question between two citizens in the midst of a campaign endangers the public position of one of them, it is time to get our hearings.

We do not elect tyrants of the Russian or Asiatic type in our American cities. Nothing but desperation and bravado could have incited an act so reckless and harmful both to the city of Boston and to the Mayor himself as this removal of Mr. Church.

The affidavit of Mr. Church shows that he merely expressed his intention not to vote for the Curley slate for the City Council, and that he did not PERSONALLY approve of Mr. Curley as Mayor.

It is presumed that city employees HAVE their personal opinions.

Mr. Curley himself has recently defended the right of city employees not only to express their opinions on political questions, but even to organize for the purpose of CONTROLLING MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

It seems that Mr. Curley's view of their rights depend upon whether or not their opinions are favorable to HIM.

But there is no man in Boston so recklessly partisan that he will not in his secret conscience be ashamed of this tyrannical and audacious performance. Mr. Curley is losing his head. Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad.

This attempted removal of Mr. Church is the climax of a series of extraordinary performances beginning with the attack upon Mr. Storrow, whom, only a few weeks before, the Mayor had eulogized in the highest terms upon Mr. Storrow's advent to the City Council, not only praising Mr. Storrow's public service, but congratulating the city upon its good fortune in obtaining that service.

Then followed the fake Phillips' circular to the city men, deliberately misrepresenting the attitude of the best friends the city employees have in Boston as proved by their votes in the City Council—Messrs. Atridge, Kenny and Collins.

Next came the impudent Seiberlich letter to German-Americans, by which Mr. Seiberlich sought to pay for his job as Election Commissioner, to which Mr. Curley had appointed him, by dragging foreign politics into our municipal campaign and inciting Germans to unneutral and unpatriotic conduct.

It is only necessary to give Mr. Curley a little more rope. The longer the campaign lasts, the smaller the vote of HIS candidates is likely to be.

But, quite aside from the results of this election, we must not forget TWO lessons which have been taught by this campaign. First, that the city employees must by law be freed from the duress and the tyranny which Mayor Curley has attempted to put them under during this campaign. Such meetings as the city employees have been compelled recently to attend, in behalf of the Curley slate, and such acts as the attempted removal of Mr. Church, under the circumstances as revealed in Mr. Church's sworn statement, must be made criminal by the incoming Legislature. Boston must be made a FREE city.

The Good Government Association is reaping, in Mr. Curley's conduct, the ripe fruit of their own fraudulent recall provision in the City Charter. Had that provision been honest, Mr. Curley would now have been recalled by the very large majority in favor of his recall cast last month.

Councillor Hagan remarked, the other day, that a sensitive man would have resigned when a vote of "no confidence" was given overwhelmingly cast. But city politicians are not thin-skinned, and when we consider the history of the recall provision in the charter we cannot blame Mr. Curley if he grins and sits tight against the will of a majority of his fellow-citizens.

But we certainly can and ought to prevent him from gaining any MORE power than he now has, and if necessary we can limit, by statute, the power which he is now abusing.

Once-Overs

Do you tell your family troubles outside your home? People to whom you talk may listen, they may even sympathize, but in the majority of cases they do this in order to learn more about what should be your own family secrets. Yes, secrets. And by "secrets" I mean nothing more than that it is nobody's business but your own.

It is poor policy to go outside for sympathy, for while you may be right in the position you take as to the impositions placed upon you, you will quite likely be censured by those who hear the story. The fact that you have home difficulties makes just the right sort of a warrant for gossip to appreciate.

The more often you tell the story, and the gossip repeat it, the faster it goes and the more sensational it becomes. Till after a half dozen have repeated it, you would not recognize it as belonging to your life.

Dr. Parkhurst's Article ON

Danger of Underestimating Intellectual Powers of Children and Failing to Provide Them with Proper Food for Thought

By Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst

It is doubtful if we give little children all the credit for intelligence that is their due. It is a question if there is not too much tendency to keep their minds exclusively on a milk diet long after these minds might have a little bread given them and occasionally a bit of meat.

This is quite a different thing from forcing the young mind. Forcing is unnecessary. If sometimes it seems necessary, it is because there has been mismanagement of some kind; perhaps because its activities have been directed along lines that are alien to it, and to which it is, by nature, ill-adapted.

On the contrary, the liveliness of budding mental activity is one of the most bothersome things that parents have to contend with. Youthful inquisitiveness is, in many a household, a species of domestic torture. Even adult parental intelligence is scarcely apt enough to keep out of the way.

The solution of the problem lies in finding the channel in which the child's expanding thought will naturally flow. If we were to undertake to teach a young kitten to bark we might conclude after a time that the little feline was defective, suffering from delayed development.

Or we might possibly have the discernment sufficient to allow the animal to express its feelings in the way that was natural to it, whereupon we should discover that it could mew and mew very well, a little feebly perhaps, but quite accurately, and with promise of becoming an expert if not crossed in its impulse.

Not at All Necessary to Limit Child's Reading to Silly Books

All I am contending for is the existence in the child's mind of almost a surplus of intellectual power. Some one has written, "The thoughts of a child are long thoughts." Probably its limited acquaintance with the words appropriate to the expression of such thoughts tend to disguise the fact that the thoughts are there. But there are so many remarkable flashes of intelligence hastily attributed to children that we ought to be prepared to accord the average child with an amount of mental seriousness not often conceded to him.

Parents and teachers may safely take it for granted that it is not at all necessary to limit a child's reading to the class of more or less meaningless and even silly books that the publishers turn out for the replenishment of child-libraries. A book should be just for enough above the easy level of the young mind to give it opportunity for pleasurable exertion.

Parents sometimes say that they do not send their children to church for the reason that while they get along comfortably well with the more miscellaneous parts of the service, the music, etc., the preaching is over their heads. But it is vastly better to be a little over than a little under.

Even the parents may sometimes encounter preaching that at times will be more than a match for a purely passive condition of equanimity. It is to be hoped so at least. But I do know that the way in which children of quite immature years do, not infrequently, take hold of what is told to them from the pulpit, is a proof also that the average child has an intellectual relish for food which is fairly solid that it does not have for contentment that is beneath the dignity and the grasp of its vivacious appetite.

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT rarely says anything that is not interesting. His genial common sense appeals both to heart and intellect. His words come neither by hearsay nor to the ear so far as we are concerned.

Within the time allowed to him was just to find one shoe. And with one shoe and nothing else, although he begged and cried. He had to trudge through frozen drifts beside the goblin's side: To slide across the glittering ice, while that malignant spirit stood peeling him with snowballs through that long and awful night. He woke next morning shivering, and when night came—poor kid—He threw his clothes around the room the way he always did.

He has just been telling a number of easy things about public affairs. His notions about money are old-fashioned, but there is a simplicity and directness about a good many old-fashioned things that strike home. They show less decoration and elaboration, but for that very reason it is not necessary to bore or excruciate so far before penetrating into what is vital.

There is more machinery operated in running schools than there used to be, but it is the problem of conducting to minimize machinery to the interest of product. Mr.

Penology has made such strides that now even prison inmates are allowed to talk with one another, at least in Sing Sing. A teacher, who cannot make a schoolroom a happy place lacks one of the essential qualifications of a pedagogue. I believe that the chief why the mental food administered by the teacher so painfully disagrees with the system is the state of depression that the pupils are in while the northernmost is being given.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

The Lesson

WHEN Tommy went to bed at night he used to lark and play, Instead of folding up his clothes and putting them away. He'd leave his stockings on the stairs; he never cared at all. If jacket, shoes and waist and tie were scattered through the hall. And after he was fast asleep there lay along the floor A slovenly, untidy trail of everything he wore. Of course his mother picked them up and laid them on a chair. And when he woke at breakfast time he always found them there.

BUT just last week he had a dream—a goblin all in white Stood leering at him through the gloom; a truly horrid sight. And savagely the goblin said: "At last, I think, I've found The very foolish little boy that throws his clothes around. Now find those clothes, sir, right away; for we are going to go Down yonder by the frozen creek and frolic in the snow. I'll give you just two minutes, just two minutes, sir, from now. And if you are not dressed by then I'll take you anyhow."

WELL, Tommy hunted breathlessly, but all that he could do Within the time allowed to him was just to find one shoe. And with one shoe and nothing else, although he begged and cried. He had to trudge through frozen drifts beside the goblin's side: To slide across the glittering ice, while that malignant spirit stood peeling him with snowballs through that long and awful night. He woke next morning shivering, and when night came—poor kid—He threw his clothes around the room the way he always did.

The Knocker We Have Always With Us. Cheer up, Meggy! A lot of people stinked at Meggy and look what happened to them.

But Lucifer Still Holds the Record. The fact of so elevated a city as Georgia will be a great advantage to me.

Prepared. What does Cypher Ray want with a special police force? Haven't I a citizenry trained and accustomed in arms?

Consolation. Let us remember with relief that the village received by Senators doesn't apply to their speech.
